CW-MBP TRAINING concentrates on science, methods, and tools to engage communities and residents, eliminate ineffective but common practices, and get community fire adaptation actions accomplished on the ground. This national-level training is for; current or future mitigation specialists, wildfire program leads, those who work with communities and residents to get mitigation done, federal, state, county, community, and nonprofit practitioners.

After completion of the course, students will have a comprehensive understanding of the most effective methods, tools, and techniques necessary to increase on-the-ground community wildfire mitigation activities and be able to apply lessons from the class to solve real-world mitigation challenges.

Host Agencies for this training:
Grand Lake Fire District
Grand County Wildfire Council
